The Sun Peaks Golf Course is nestled at the foot of three magnificent mountains welcomes you. Just 45 minutes northeast of Kamloops, you will find this one-of-a-kind BC golf destination. With greens located at 1,200 meters above sea level it is British Columbia's highest elevation course.

Surrounded by natural foliage and panoramic mountain views, the rewarding and sometimes challenging 18-hole par 72 Graham Cooke course weaves alongside the village at the foothills of three recognizable ski mountains. This 6,400-yard course offers both risk and reward opportunities that will appeal to every level of golfer. Bonuses of golfing at a higher elevation are that your ball flies longer and the mountain air provides relief from hotter summer temperatures; Sun Peaks is often 10 degrees cooler than nearby Kamloops.
